Alverno College Student Computer Use Policy

Camp iGIRL

Students will be using the Internet as part of their educational experience. The use of the Internet is a privilege, not a right, and inappropriate use will result in a cancelation of those privileges and possible discipline in accordance with Alverno College's policies.

Please read the policy below. Parents, remember that you are legally responsible for your child's actions. Please stress to your child the importance of following the policies. Non-adherence to this policy can result in the loss of this privilege.

The vast majority of the information on the Internet has positive educational value. With this educational opportunity comes personal responsibility. Approved electronic activities must not contain profanity, obscene comments, sexually explicit material or expressions of bigotry, racism, or hate.

Computer Etiquette

Be polite. Do not be abusive in any message to others.
Use appropriate language. Do not use profanity, obscene comments, sexually explicit material, or expressions of bigotry, racism or hate. Illegal activities are strictly forbidden.
Do not reveal personal addresses or telephone numbers to others.
Do not use the network in such a way that you would disrupt the use of the network or other users.

Security

Under no circumstances should you give anyone your password. Do not reveal your personal address or telephone number.

Any user identified as a security risk or having a history of problems with other computer systems may be denied access to the Internet.

Students have the right to appeal any restrictions or access privileges.

Vandalism

Vandalism is defined as any malicious attempt to harm or destroy electronic information including data or equipment. Uploading or creation of computer viruses is considered vandalism.

Rules and Code of Ethics

The student should act honorably and in a manner consistent with ordinary ethical obligations.

The student will not use the computer resources for non-academic activities.

The student will not make unauthorized copies of software in accordance with the copyright laws.

The student will respect the rights and privacy of other authorized users.

Alverno College is not responsible for the accuracy or the quality of information obtained through the Internet.

Under the state statue 947.0125 students may be subject to criminal sanctions if they transfer by means of signs, signals, writing, images, sounds or data to threaten, intimidate, abuse or harass another person through electronic mail or other computerized communication system.

E-mail accounts and file materials in general are public not private in nature and remain subject to monitoring by Alverno College. The school and its administrators, with due regard for the right of privacy to users and the confidentiality of their data, have the right to suspend Internet access privileges, examine files, passwords, accounting information, printouts, tapes and other material that may aid in maintaining the integrity and efficient operation of the system. Staff may search the file system for potential violations and when there is evidence of a possible violation may view users' files, read mail, monitor keystrokes, and otherwise observe activities.
